Tucker Outlines Platform in Race for Governor

The platform upon which he will make his campaign for the democratic nomination for governor was announced here today by Harry S. George Tucker, of Lexington.

Mr. Tucker said he stands for a square deal for a continuation of the business administration of the state's affairs, which was endorsed unreservedly by the democratic state convention at Roanoke last May as "clean, capable and courageous."

Mr. Tucker said, if elected governor of Virginia, his policy would be "Progressive economy and productive efficiency."

He said he stood on his "Back to the Constitution" program for a return in public thinking to the constitutional ideals of the nation's founders, and for an unmarked, genuine, red blooded Americanism. He declared for a strict and impartial enforcement of all laws of the commonwealth; for the improvement of the public school system and for the construction and maintenance of good roads as matters of paramount importance to the people of the state.

BROADEN BUDGET SCOPE

The executive budget system Mr. Tucker said, should be extended to include all state departments and institutions; and the most modern and improved auditing and accounting methods adopted. He declared for broadening the scope of the state purchasing agency; for efficiency and economy in state service in all its branches; for better paid school facilities, especially in country districts, with better trained and better paid teachers, an simplest and direct method of local school administration; and the step by step construction of the state highway system as now, or here after constituted, through the financial cooperation of the state and federal governments, as well as far a generous policy of state money aid to the county systems, and to the end that the state and county system may ultimately and as quickly as possible constitute one great interlocking system of improved roads, furnishing needed transportation facilities to all of the people of the state and particularly to the farmer in marketing his produce. "Coincident with construction, simple maintenance should be provided and continued so that the money invested in road construction may not be spent in vain," said Mr. Tucker.

With regard to agriculture, which he termed "our basic industry," Mr. Tucker said he stood squarely behind the farmers in their fight for a better system of farm credits and more adequate means of handling and distributing their products; and that he favored an extension of the state's service to that end.

SCHOOLS AND ROADS

"Better rural schools, better roads, better methods of marketing and better living conditions for the farmer and his family," Mr. Tucker said, "will mean a better and happier Virginia."

Mr. Tucker said he would support all reasonable efforts to improve the public health and that he was especially interested in the state's tuberculosis and typhoid work, and that he was heartily in favor of a state research and bacteriological laboratory. "Public health work in the public schools," Mr. Tucker said, "is a sound economic as well as social investment, and one of the most effective means of combating disease and conserving child life, and deserving our fullest support."

Development of the state's natural and economic assets, and the improvement of industrial working conditions, Mr. Tucker said, would receive his earnest support. He also advocated the conservation of our forests, and the protection and development of the state's valuable natural water power.

The proper development of Hampton Roads with its tributary navigable waterways," Mr. Tucker said, "is the 'golden key' to the future industrial and commercial prosperity of Virginia." "Develop Hampton Roads," he said, "and we will develop Virginia—its commerce, agriculture and its people."

"Bearing in mind," Mr. Tucker said, "the unfortunate words of the state in our hospitals for the insane, epileptic and the feeble minded, I am eager to further and extend this splendid service by providing to the fullest extent of the state's means for their treatment care."

THE PENAL SYSTEM

The development of clementary educational classes and court and training courses at the penitentiary, Mr. Tucker said, would have his earnest support. He also said he favored reorganization of the whole state prison system as to bring under one management all the institutions, plant and camps where convicts are employed. Physical and mental examination of prisoners is followed by a proper system of classification and segregation, Mr. Tucker stated, also would receive his active support. He stood, he said, for a prison system in Virginia that would be a model, reformatory rather than merely punitive.

"I have always stood," Mr. Tucker said, "for a fearless expression of personal conviction on public issues, and my opposition to the ratification of woman's suffrage by federal amendment was the expression of my conviction. That issue, the prohibition is settled, and I accept unreservedly the will of the majority; and, if elected Governor of Virginia, I shall cheerfully welcome women to the full enjoyment of their rights of citizenship."

"Back to the Constitution," Mr. Tucker explained, "is a forward looking slogan—a call to the service of the future." "I have not in mind," he said, "legislation already enacted, but I would direct rather the minds of men toward the ideals of constitutional government promulgated by our forefathers as a basis for progress. I deplore any further concentration of power to the federal government at the expense of the reserved powers of the states, and would have our people consider soberly the danger of overextended constitution of the future." "In fact," he added, "Back to the Constitution and not Back of the Constitution is my slogan."

Mr. Tucker said that if elected governor he would try to live up to the standard he has set for a man eligible for the governorship of the Old Dominion. "Such a man," he said, "should be of high ideals, industrious in the state's affairs, forward-looking, and with vision to formulate wise policies and the courage to carry them out."

In conclusion, Mr. Tucker said, "in offering my service to the state, I stand untrammeled by any fact or artificial obligation; I have made no commitments of any sort and am not pledged to any promise, save those publicly made to all the people of the state."

Farmers Organize to Hold Tobacco

Notwithstanding the snow and sleet farmers numbering about 100 met Saturday at the courthouse and heard full discussions regarding the proposed methods of pooling the tobacco crop for another season.

District Agent J. J. Bruce, from Culpeper, explained the plan which he said is being outlined throughout Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. He spoke at length on the many features of the plan and declared that the scheme seemed very feasible, should at least go into effect, and that the farmers would be compensated very soon for their consideration.

The county perfected an organization by electing S. E. Anderson, of Stone Mountain, temporary chairman, E. A. O'Brien, secretary, and three from the magistrate district as district officers. The farmers present seemed much pleased with the plan and many expressed their willingness to sign contracts as soon as possible.

Among other things, the speaker pointed out that it was the purpose of this organization to put no one or no class of persons, but that its main purpose was to protect the tobacco industry, and install a method of selling the crop on a cooperative and collective system.

He declared the present system of dumping the crop and selling it under hammer, and showed how this method would enable the farmer to grade his tobacco, pool it, get at least 66 per cent of a price to be put in this tobacco by an expert grader, and to receive the balance when the crop was sold. It was further brought out that the organization would then dry the tobacco and proceed to sell in a scientific and business like manner and that some one would have a constant job just to look out for the selling so as to get the best possible price.

R. L. Burke, cashier of the bank here, also spoke and said that the banks were very much interested in the plan, and would see no reason why the banks would not support such a plan by financial backing if called upon. He cited the fact that the banks were very much interested in the plan, and would see no reason why the banks would not support such a plan by financial backing if called upon.

All Ford Dealers

Several inquiries have recently come to us concerning the likelihood of another reduction in the price of our cars, and as these inquiries have emanated from prospective purchasers, we want to state again with greater emphasis that Ford cars are already being sold at a price actually below cost and for an indefinite period another reduction or change in design is entirely out of the question and not at all contemplated.

We believe the public will be fair enough to fully appreciate the frankness of the above statement. We are actually below cost and our recent price cut which was in fact the equivalent of several reductions in one, is our desire to contribute toward satisfying their demands for lower living costs notwithstanding our sacrifice in marketing our cars at a loss until we are able to materially reduce present costs through lower material prices and greater manufacturing efficiency. While we have of course made some progress in originating down pricing costs, we still have a long way to go before any thought can be given to further reductions in present car prices, so we have no hesitancy in making these open statements to acquaint you with the true situation.

You can therefore give us assurance to prospective purchasers of Ford cars that now is their real opportunity to buy low cost and obtain delivery. Everyone is familiar with the heavy demand for Ford cars in the Spring and this year will be no exception, as it is a fact of common knowledge that they are already rapidly accumulating, so that many who desire Ford cars will be obliged to wait perhaps until mid-summer for delivery causing considerable inconvenience and possibly financial loss, particularly to commercial customers.

We expect you to protect the interests of prospective buyers in your community by placing these facts before them.

You are very truly,
FORD MOTOR COMPANY,
W. A. EYAN,
1122 W. Manager of Sales.

For Torpid Liver

"Black-Draught is, in my opinion, the best liver medicine on the market," states Mrs. M. J. White, of Keosauqua, Iowa. "I had a pain in my chest after eating, tight, uncomfortable feeling, and this was very disagreeable and brought on headache. I was constipated and knew it was indigestion and inactive liver. I began the use of Black-Draught night and morning, and it sure is wonderful, and certainly gives relief."

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

For over seventy years this purely vegetable preparation has been found beneficial by thousands of persons suffering from effects of a torpid, or slow-acting liver, indigestion, biliousness, colic, constipation, dizziness, constipation, bitter taste, sleeplessness, lack of energy, pain in back, puffiness under the eyes—any or all of these symptoms often indicate that there is something wrong with your liver. You can't be too careful about the medicine you take. Be sure Thedford's Black-Draught is on the package. At all druggists.

Buckingham

The reaper death came into the midst the past week and we lost two of our prominent people. Mr. W. W. Pryor died on Wednesday of last week in Richmond. Mr. Pryor was a man far above the average in intelligence and had spent the most of his life in Buckingham county.

Mrs. Mary Branch Anderson, widow of the late R. M. Anderson and daughter of the late John Branch Gilliam, was buried here in the Methodist cemetery Saturday evening Jan. 16th.

Dr. Plecker has appointed Mr. J. H. Lewis a registrar of Vital Statistics in the place of Mr. Luther P. Gilliam resigned.

Miss Mary U. Glover went to Richmond last week and from there to New Kent County to visit her niece, Mrs. N. A. McKay, who is just recovering from typhoid fever.

Mrs. Henry Groseclose, of this place, has her mother, Mrs. Saxon, of Washington, Ohio, as a guest in her home here.

As I write a rumor has been repeated by my hearing to the effect that in short while sales of tobacco will be dis-
